RubiFlow is a DATA PREP AND ORCHESTRATOR !

RubiFlow is a serverless data integration platform that simplifies the process of connecting, transforming, and moving data between various sources and destinations for analytics, machine learning (ML), and visually create, run, and monitor data pipelines. RubiFlow empowers enterprises to focus on data insights while reducing costs and increasing agility.

Key Features

Connectivity	Supports databases, cloud storage, SaaS applications, and APIs	Collaboration	Seamless integration with MLOps and BI tools
Ingestion	Real-time and batch data ingestion and change data capture integration	Deployment	Serverless architecture with automatic scaling
Transformation	Low-code data transformation with built-in data cleaning and enrichment	Security	Role-based access control, security version control features
Data Exploration	Data replication and synchronization	Support	Help Central, User Community and Enterprise Plans available
Monitoring	Real-time pipeline monitoring and alerts, Data lineage tracking, Error handling	Pricing	Starting at an affordable starter pack, with enterprise plans available

Benefits

Reduced Cost

Optimised infrastructure costs and management overhead

Faster Data

Increased agility and time-to-market for data projects

Improved Results

Improved data quality and consistency

Better Outcomes

Enhanced scalability and performance

Testimonial

“RubiFlow automates and streamlines our data pipelines by connecting to the divers data sources and helped us in building fictional data marts for ML modelling and business intelligence. Integrated tool kit helped us to reduce time to go live and significantly save the duplicate efforts.”
